Chicanos Por la Causa Proudly Announces New Board Members

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

November 6, 2008

Three dynamic community leaders have joined the Board of Directors at Chicanos Por La Causa, Inc. (CPLC), taking on the responsibility of overseeing this community development corporation as it strives to build stronger, healthier communities.

CPLC is proud to announce that Carmen Cornejo, George Diaz and Tony Moya will be joining the other 17 CPLC Board members. These three individuals bring unique talents, backgrounds and community relationships to strengthen CPLC.

“The CPLC Board of Directors provides oversight to ensure that the organization stays grounded. They also play the important role of being our eyes and ears out in the community, providing a real grassroots connection,” said CPLC President and CEO Edmundo Hidalgo. “We are thrilled to have Carmen, George and Tony join our Board, and we look forward to their perspectives and contributions.”

Carmen Cornejo is a multi-talented woman whose past roles have included newspaper editor, language instructor and professor. She currently serves as managing director of CADENA, a grassroots organization dedicated to advocating for the U.S. Congress to pass the DREAM Act, legislation that would ensure all young people can attain a college education regardless of their immigration status.

George Diaz is a Senior Public Affairs Lobbyist for Pinnacle West Capital Corporation who has 13 years of experience in the legislative, governmental and public affairs industries representing high-profile clients. He has served under the Arizona State Supreme Court, Arizona Attorney General’s Office and the Arizona State House of Representatives.

Tony Moya is the Manager of Latino Relations at Salt River Project (SRP), carrying out the company’s community involvement activities with a focus on the Hispanic community. His experience spans marketing, strategic planning and group facilitation, and he has been recognized as a leader in the Hispanic community.
